

Software Development Manager

Company Name: TechInnovate Solutions

Location: Seattle, WA (Remote with occasional travel to headquarters)

Position Type: Full-Time

Salary: $135,000–$155,000/year

TechInnovate Solutions is looking for a visionary Software Development Manager to lead our team of talented developers in creating innovative software solutions. This role is pivotal to our success as we expand our portfolio of high-quality products and services. We are searching for an experienced professional who can blend technical expertise with strong leadership skills to drive our projects forward.

As the Software Development Manager, you will oversee multiple projects, ensuring they are delivered on time and within budget. You'll lead a team of developers, providing mentorship and fostering an environment of growth and collaboration. By working closely with stakeholders and cross-functional teams, you'll ensure that all technical solutions align with our broader business objectives.

Candidates for this role must hold a Bachelor's degree in Computer Science, Software Engineering, or a related field, with at least 7 years of experience in software development. While a Bachelor's degree is required, a Master's degree and significant experience in leadership roles are strongly preferred. Expertise in agile development methodologies, cloud-based systems, and programming languages such as Python or Java will be essential to your success.

What We Offer

- Competitive salary with annual performance-based bonuses.
- Fully remote work with flexible scheduling.
- Comprehensive benefits package, including health, dental, and vision coverage.
- Generous PTO, parental leave, and professional development opportunities.
- Stock options and opportunities for career advancement.

At TechInnovate Solutions, we pride ourselves on cultivating a supportive and inclusive workplace where innovation thrives. If you're passionate about technology and ready to take on a leadership role at a company that values excellence, we encourage you to apply. Let's build the future together.
